

Wherever You Go, Kahua is There

Kahua's Mobility Features Keep You Connected

Kahua's construction management solution enables field personnel to be more productive than ever before. While mobile technology has come a long way, many core business systems have limited mobile capabilities that simply do not adequately extend to the field. The Kahua platform solves this challenge. All the functionality in the Kahua platform works just the same as on a desktop, laptop, tablet or phone.

This means everyone – from the vice president of design and construction to program managers to construction managers to the architect to the supervisor to tradesmen – don't have to constantly run back to the office or need to put their hands on paper copies of the plans or data safety sheets. Kahua provides access to that information on their mobile device, with no threat to data security.

It's not just about convenience. The more efficient workers are, the more they can be proactive in managing a project's issues. And that saves money.

Kahua Mobile Delivers:

- Offline capabilities allow anyone in the field to update/connect with projects without a connection
- The ability of sending Kahua-stored documents to anyone on their contact list via text
- Easy uploads of pictures of job site progress or issues and easily upload it into Kahua
- Signatures and/or approvals to be captured in the field by vendors or workers before they leave the site
- A single platform allowing whatever is created or edited on the desktop will be the same as the mobile device; this continues all workflows, such as field observations, punch lists, daily reports, issues and safety data records
- Access to drawings, submittals, RFIs and safety data sheets from the field
